Ploughing the Waves. A storm at sea means inevitable sea-sickness for ocean traveilers. The vibration of a steam-er's screw, even, is a sore trial to any but the trongest stomach. "Splicing the main brace," s the imbibation of a glass is jocularly termed as the imbibation of a glass is jocularly termed by sailors, is a poor substitute for the swallowing of that incomparable tranquillizer of sea-sick stomachs, Hoestetter's Stomach Bitters, which no commercial traveller, tourist, or invalid should be without in "crossing the briny" or making a tedious land journey. No unmedicated simulant of commerce is comparable for efficacy to the great invigorant. Emigrants to the West pronounce it a reliable preventive of malarial infection, as well as other complaints to which hardship, impure water, and miasma-tained vapors give rise. It rendors brackish water drincable and barmless, and is a fine remedy for disorders of the stomach and bowels and for kidney troubles and rheumatsm.

of the Eighth-street tunnel about five or six City Committee To-Night - Electric weeks ago, and now the work is well under way.

Hands have been really actively engaged for a little more than four weeks, and 6,000 cubic varies of dirt has been removed, which is regarded as exceedingly good progress in railroad work, especially when the unfavorable circumstances here experienced exist. The surroundings in this case are such that the earth has to be carted off in wheel-barrows, which is both expensive and slow, and for some time only a very small force of bands could be employed to advantage.

A Divpatch reporter visited the northern terminus of the tunnel yesterday and was surprised to see what had been accomplished, all drawbacks and obstacles being considered. The railroad company had to have the Eighth-street sewer uncovered and strength-ened for a great distance. This has been done, and the opening is being filled in, and the earth can now be dumped thereabouts with safety. Mr. W. J. Westwood, who did this work, is now engaged in building the large sewer which connects with the sevent-street culvert and extends along the ravine to a point near Ninth street.

Professor Hall, of William and Mary Mr. J. Leslie Hall, who has been elected to the chair of English at William and Mary, is a great grandson of Bishop Moore and a son of the late Jacob Hall. He was born in lieved that there will be a large number of horses brought here from other States to Richmond and educated at William and Mary College, whence he came to Richmond and engaged in the dry goods business with J. T. Price & Co. until the spring of 1881, Pools will be sold on the grounds, and it is expected that the sale of this privilege will realize the society a handsome sum of money. The arrangements are such that those who have any scruples about attending races will not be forced to stay away from the Exposition rather than give countenance to the racing. The track will be fenced off from the Exposition Hall and will be a separate show—that is to say, there will be one fee for admission to the Exposition Hall and another for admission to the race-track. J. T. Price & Co. until the spring of 1881, when he took charge of a school in the Valley of Virginia. From there he came to Richmond and taught for two years in the University School here. Mr. Hall found he could not discharge the duties of a teacher and make the progress with his studies he desired, and therefore decaded to devote his whole time to study, and went to the Johns Hopkins University, where he continued three years. After the first year he was adsion to the Exposition Hall and another for admission to the race-track.

The track, though only half a mile in length, is going to be a good one—far more satisfactory, indeed, to the general public than that which formerly existed; for it will be altogether in view of the grand-stand, which the old one was not.

The running races will be on October 9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th; the trotting races on October 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th.

The whole subject of races is under the immediate supervision of Secretary Venable. three years. Mr. Hail will leave Monday for Alexandria, where he will conduct a four weeks' course in the Teachers' Institute on the "Beginning of English Grammar." After this course concludes Mr. Hall will spend the rest of his vacation reading in the Peabody Library at Baittmore.
